

Lesson 1

Website Quality Information Checklist

During your lesson today, you learned that you shouldn't automatically believe everything that you see or read on the Internet. With so many websites and so much information, how can you know what is genuine and what can be trusted?

Visit the following website:

http://www.teach-ict.com/ks3/year8/information_reliability_bias/quick_8points/page1.htm

The website provides a checklist of eight points that you should follow when checking information on websites.

In the table below, list the eight points and provide a brief explanation to remind yourself what each point means

Point	What this point means